NANCY DAWSON

1. Of all the girls in our town, The black, the fair, the red, the brown, That prance and dance it up and down, There's none like Nancy Dawson. 2. Her easy mien, her shape so neat, She foots, she trips, she looks so sweet, Her every motion's so complete, I die for Nancy Dawson.	3. See how she comes to give surprise, With joy and pleasure in her eyes, To give delight she always tries, So means my Nancy Dawson. 4. See how the opera takes a run, Exceeding Hamlet, Lear, and Lun, Though in it there would be no fun, Were it not for Nancy Dawson.

LISTED INTO THE CAUSE OF SIN

1. Listed into the cause of sin, Why should a good be evil? Music, alas! too long has been Pressed to obey the devil. 2. Drunken, or lewd, or light the lay Flowed to the soul's undoing, Widened, and strown with flowers the way Down to eternal ruin. 3. Who on the part of God will rise, Innocent sound recover, Fly on the prey, and take the prize, Plunder the carnal love,	4. Strip him of every moving strain, Every melting measure, Music in virtue's cause retain, Rescue the holy pleasure? 5. Come, let us try if Jesus' love Will not as well inspire us; This is the theme of those above, This upon earth shall fire us. 6. Say, if your hearts are tuned to sin, Is there a subject greater? Harmony all its strains may bring, Jesus's name is sweeter.

THE POET

CHARLES WESLEY is one of Christendom's most outstanding poets. He wrote some 9,000 poems, many of which were set to music for use as hymns and are found in almost every English-language Christian hymnal regardless of denomination. He came by his gifts rightly, as his father, a sister and two brothers were poets. Charles attended Christ Church College of Oxford University where he and his brother founded the Holy Club, a small group of students later called "Methodists" because of their methodical concern for the daily routine of living, study and social service. Although he and his brother, John, both clergymen of the Church of England, are best remembered as founders of Methodism, their friendship with the poor, opposition to slavery, emphasis on inward spirituality, witness of the Spirit, and social outreach formed a life-style of worship, inspiration and reform which is universal.

Many of Wesley's poems were born out of crisis, conflict, violence, oppression and opposition, and are still timely today. They have spread around the world wherever people suffer, rejoice and worship, for their message of self-giving love, as Wesley experienced it in Christ, redeems the time and those who sing them

THE PLAY

Eighteenth-century England lacked the structure to take action against the injustices rampant in its society. Into this environment Charles Wesley was born. Sweet Singer is a musical drama which tells the story of this prolific poet and man of God. It presents some of Wesley's best loved poems, such as "Hark! the herald angels sing," "Love divine, all loves excelling," and many more, which relate his reaction to an unjust world and his quest to answer the question: "What shall I do to make the most of a short life?"

Sweet Singer deals with Wesley's struggle against poverty, reluctant acceptance of Holy Orders and life as a Church of England clergyman, adventure to America, opposition to slavery, social and spiritual reform, personal transformation, stormy beginnings of the Methodist movement, courage in the face of violence, family devotion and conflict, and poetic genius.

In the midst of a corrupt human society he sang a song which unites the music in every song with "Peace on earth and mercy mild / God and sinners reconciled."
